Postgraduate and honours students supervised March 2026

Getting older after 32 yrs of teaching, I am not taking on more PhDs.

By Simon Batterbury, Geography, University of Melbourne, Australia and (2017-2019) Professor, Lancaster Environment Centre, Lancaster University, UK.

http://www.simonbatterbury.net

Winner of Outstanding PhD supervisor award, University of Melbourne, 2019.

Here are the research students I have worked with, most at Melbourne in Australia. The unifying themes are 'environment and development' and 'political ecology'. So far, my students at Melbourne have come from Australia (c.12), Canada (3), Ghana, Cameroon, Pakistan (2), Indonesia (2), Thailand, Trinidad, Philippines, South Africa, Nepal, Mexico, New Zealand (3), Colombia (2), Chile (3), Cambodia, Vietnam, Ecuador, Russian Federation, Bangladesh (3) and China, with the rest from the US and Britain. I am still in touch with many of them.
I was involved with 7-9 PhDs and 1-2 Masters and Honours at one time, far less now as I begin to wind down. PhD students had great backgrounds – usually a good Masters and a chance of a scholarship. I don't have any scholarships myself – and students find their own projects.
Jobs listed that students got may be a little inaccurate.

Post-doc/sabbatical

1) Nov. 2012. Dr Matthias Kowasch, visiting scholar (PhD Geography, Montpellier/Heidelberg).

Now Professor of Geography, Sorbonne University, Paris. Worked on 2 articles and a shared project in northern Grande Terre, New Caledonia, funded by CNRT. Revisited Melbourne as research fellow – 2016 (twice)

- Kowasch M., S.P.J. Batterbury, M. Neumann. 2015. Contested sites, land claims and economic development in Poum, New Caledonia. Settler Colonial Studies 5(4): 302-316.

2) 4 months in 2019/2020. Dr Martin C. Lukas, visiting scholar (PhD Universität Bremen)

- Artisanal mining in Kalimantan, and writing on Indonesian human-environment issues. Funded by German Academic Exchange Service. Now Associate Prof, NTNU, Trondheim, Norway.

3) 2026-7. Dr. Chihiro Ito, Associate Professor, Faculty of Humanities, Kyushu University, Japan. Sabbatical sponsored by JSPS International Research Fellowship Fund.

PhD students graduated/submitted (18/19) *=main supervisor

POLLEN, Lund, Sweden, 2024: Frankline, Denisse, Paula, Julia

1) *2006-2009. Dr. Lisa Watts (MA, Charles Darwin University, PhD Melbourne)
A political ecology of Warlpiri water rights: a denial of access and land alienation to perennial water sources on leased lands in the Western Desert. (APA - Australian Postgrad Award).

A longtime activist for Indigenous rights and resident in Yuendamu and Alice Springs, Lisa graduated in '09 and was a research fellow at Charles Darwin University, then the Centre for Indigenous Education, Univ. of Melbourne, and Australian Indigenous Psychologists Association. Now a consultant and filmmaker in Darwin. PhD supervised with Brian Finlayson, Simon Fisher (he's on the left).

3) 2005-2010. Dr. Anna Witasari (MSc, Edinburgh, PhD Melbourne) Changing practices: negotiation, identity and social capital in protected area management – Lampung, Indonesia. (AUSAID scholarship).

Now at the Indonesian Forest Service in Bogor directing a Division on community-based plantation forestry. PhD looked at communities that still live within 'protected' forestry areas even though legally they shouldn't - a reality in Indonesia. Supervised with Drs Ruth Beilin and Ruth Nettle.

- Witasari, A.I. 2016. Trust building to coordinate collective action in reforestation program. Jurnal Manajemen Hutan Tropika 22(3): 192-201

4) *2008-2011. Dr. Sean Sloan (MA, Geography, McGill, Canada; PG Dip, U South Pacific, Fiji; PhD Melbourne) Forest regeneration in Panama, 1980-2008: the forest transition and REDD+. (SSHRC Canada Doctoral Award, MRS scholarship, CSIRO Climate Adaptation flagship award, Lindbergh Trust, earlier OAS award)

Now Canada Research Chair at Vancouver Island University, Canada. Was a postdoc with Prof Bill Laurance at James Cook University, Qld. Sean is Canadian & Australian, and an expert on multi-method analysis of land cover change in the tropics, and spatial data handling. A complex PhD completed in 2.5 years. 2nd supervisor Prof. Nigel Stork. A publication machine: a few relevant ones from Melbourne work:

10) *2009→2016 Dr. Greg van der Horst (MA, Geography, U. Guelph, BA King's University College, Canada) "Everybody's business": Global Forest Governance and the socio-ecologies of commercial forestry in Sierra Leone. (SSHRC Canada Doctoral Award; FAO ACP-FLEGT project; Sustainable Forestry Initiative)

Canadian, Greg did a Masters on urban fuelwood use and supply in Botswana. 1.5yrs fieldwork 2011-12 in Sierra Leone. Was settled in Sierra Leone for 10 years and an homme d'affaire working across West Africa with NGOs, doing solar installations and forestry projects (and writing many articles with Paul Munro, below). Then consulted with Crown Agents in Vancouver and lives on Vancouver Island.
